Dear Publisher:

The research reported in this manuscript is funded in whole or in part by grants from a U.S. Federal Agency with more than $100 million in annual research and development expenditures. As a result, author(s) must comply with the Agency's Public Access Plan, which requires the published results of this research be freely available to the public no later than 12 months after publication.

In order to ensure compliance with the Public Access Plan, Utah State University, in cooperation with the author, must deposit a copy of the author's final manuscript - including all modifications from the publishing and peer review process in a repository prescribed by the sponsoring Agency. USU must provide or authorize the Agency to provide free public digital access to the manuscript no later than 12 months after publication.

By accepting this manuscript, you agree to support compliance with the Agency's Public Access Plan, and accept that the terms of the Public Access Plan are paramount and supersede any conflicting provisions in any publication agreements for this manuscript, already signed or to be signed at a later date.

We appreciate your assistance in working with Utah State University authors to achieve compliance with the U.S. Federal Government.

Sincerely,

Mark R. McLellan, PhD
Vice President for Research and
Dean of the School of Graduate Studies
